SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
AMHERST • MASSACHUSETTS

DEDICATION

William Crocker Sanctuary is an Amherst product practically all the way. He was one of the first Poultry majors to graduate from Massachusetts Agricultural College. Following graduation in 1912 he spent some time in commercial work, and later taught at Morrisville State School of Agriculture in New York.

In 1921 he returned to M.A.C. as Professor of Poultry Husbandry, where for nearly four decades he has taught many classes the intricacies of incubation, genetics and poultry housing.

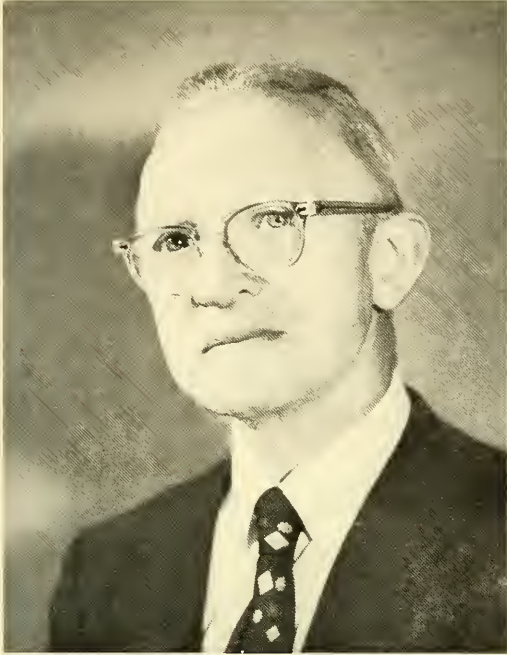

A student all the way, he has directed his study toward the reason for things; then following up by correcting and improving many generally accepted theories. This has been exemplified in his teaching and caused his students to study methods, rather than accepted results.

In the field of research he is an acknowledged authority on poultry house design and ventilation. His study of methods is carried over into his favorite sports of golf and bowling.

J. H. Vondell

DEDICATION

Luther Banta came to the University from New York state where he graduated from Cornell University, and later taught at the Alfred State School.

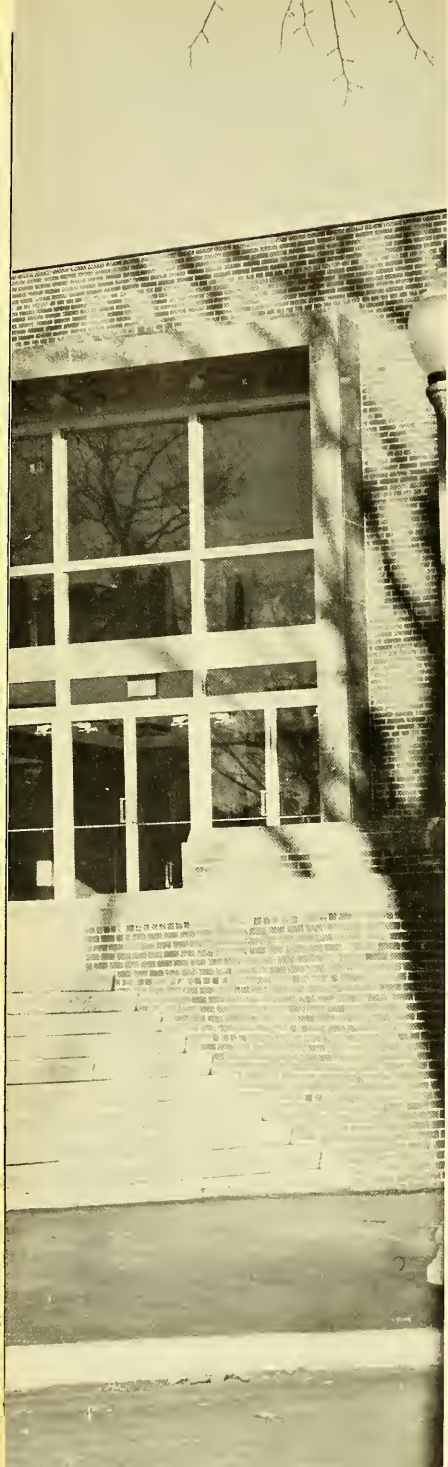

The name Banta has always been associated with chickens because of his many years of judging and close study of the species. An ardent reader and a thorough teacher, he has always covered his subjects with detail and completeness.

In addition to his University work he has helped with the F.F.A. and 4-H judging contests and programs. His interest in judging has also carried him into many agricultural fairs in the state and the great Boston Poultry Show.

He has the happy and sincere faculty of making students know that he is interested in them. This is proven by the many alumni who always drop in for a visit when they return to the campus, and by the correspondence he has with his former students.

FOREWORD

In 1918, the first class of thirty-five students entered a new two-year course in practical agriculture at the Massachusetts Agricultural College. Ten years later this course was officially named the Stockbridge School of Agriculture. This year, 1958, marks the 40th anniversary of the Stockbridge School, now an integral part of the University of Massachusetts College of Agriculture. Over 3,500 students have graduated during this 40 year period.

Previous Stockbridge yearbooks have borne the name Shorthorn. A new title, STOSAG, appears on this anniversary issue. Composed from the words Stockbridge School of Agriculture, STOSAG gives the yearbook a significance which is truly representative of all departments and subjects within the school. This name was originally used for the senior honorary society. Thus, on our 40th anniversary, we establish a new tradition and proudly present the first STOSAG.

TRIBUTE

"The farmer should and must enter fully into the spirit of this wide awake competitive driving age"—1870.

This statement by Levi Stockbridge reflects the philosophy of his own life although he addressed the words to other farmers. Realizing the need for constant study, Levi Stockbridge became what one might call a self made man, by studying at home and attending lectures. From farmer to college president without benefit of a formal college education, he rose to each task and performed it well.

Stockbridge graduates are proud to be associated with the school which bears the name of this great pioneer in agricultural science and education.

ADMINISTRATION

This issue of STOSAG carries weight of great significance to the whole campus community of the University. Celebrating forty years of service and positive contribution to the lives of hundreds of graduates, the Stockbridge School of Agriculture has always been one of the leading components of this campus. For the past, in the present, and toward the future, we all take pride in your accomplishments and have everlasting faith in the continuance of your traditions, your works, and your dreams.

JEAN PAUL MATHER,
President

The Stockbridge School has a long history of effective service to young people who wish practical and theoretical training in agriculture. We need to build upon the traditions of the past. But we need to do what is also a Massachusetts and a Stockbridge tradition, to break with tradition when it is necessary. It is within our ability, guided by the tradition of the past and calling upon our resources of imagination and our Yankee ingenuity, to meet successfully the challenges that lie ahead. I hope that as the graduates of the Stockbridge School face new times they will loyally help their Alma Mater change with the changing times in the forty years that lie ahead.

SHANNON McCUNE,
Provost

The name of "Stockbridge" has been prominent in the history of the University of Massachusetts from its beginning. Levi Stockbridge was the first professor of agriculture, and it became his lot to act as President during the most trying times of this University. Being a practical man, he was able to keep the college running partially at his own expense and thus save it for future generations of students.

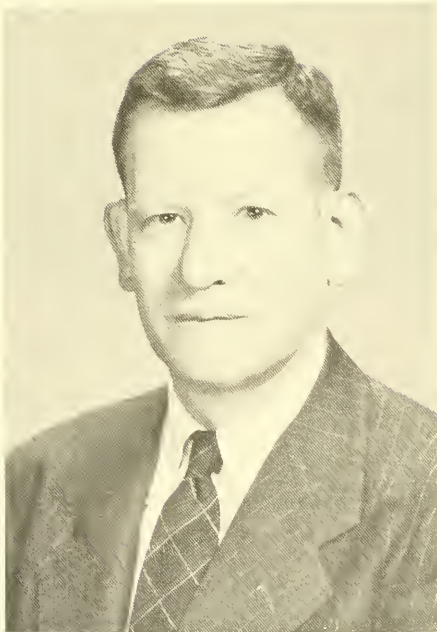

The reputation of the Stockbridge School of Agriculture, as a practical school where a student can learn the maximum about his chosen field in the shortest time is well established. The school could not have been more appropriately named. Its graduates have reflected glory on the name of Stockbridge and their loyalty and interest in the University of Massachusetts have been in the best Stockbridge tradition.

DALE H. SIELING

Best greetings to members of the Class of 1958. Forty years have passed since the establishment of the Stockbridge School of Agriculture and this has been sufficiently long to allow the development of many fine traditions. One of these has been school pride in quality of the Yearbook—for many years THE SHORTHORN and now STOSAG. Another tradition we have enjoyed is continued strong support for the school from Stockbridge alumni. I trust that members of the Class of 1958 will remember Stockbridge after they leave Amherst, just as earlier classes have. Best wishes to each one of you.

FRED P. JEFFREY
Director — Stockbridge School of Agriculture

SALUTE

Clark Leonard Thayer, Head of the Floriculture Department at the University of Massachusetts, retired on August 31, 1957. He was born on November 17, 1890 in Enfield, Massachusetts. After graduating from Massachusetts Agricultural College as a Floriculture major in 1913, he went to Cornell University as a graduate assistant and Instructor. In 1919, he returned to Massachusetts Agricultural College to head the work in Floriculture.

Thousands of students have benefited from his leadership and many are now in important positions. In 1957 Clark Thayer was presented with "The Horticulturist of The Year" award. Clark Thayer, we salute you!

OFFICE STAFF

A warm smile, a friendly greeting and a prompt answer to our problems can always be expected in the Short Course Office. Student interviews, personal problems, and the giant task of record keeping are only a few of the activities performed by Director Jeffrey and his able staff. We thank you for all that you have done for us.

Student Senate

The Student Senate is the voice of each and every member of the Stockbridge School of Agriculture. Membership in the senate consists of Freshmen and Senior class officers, fraternity, dormitory and club officers. The officers of this organization are Raymond McKay, President, Paul Restuccia, Vice-President, Darel Nowers, Secretary, and Allan Sylvester, Treasurer. A primary function of the Student Senate is to appoint committees that investigate and report on plans for student activities. Committee reports are then approved or modified by the Student Senate body.

Kappa Kappa

As the summer's placement drew to a close, the senior members of Kappa Kappa looked forward to another year of brotherhood, social life and scholarship in their "home away from home." Returning to campus with a determined spirit which is typical of Kappa Kappa men, the first project was the replacement of the water supply system. All members contributed to the heavy work of digging up the old line and laying the new one. Next came the installation of a new washing machine, followed by a pine paneling job that converted the cellar into a recreation room. In addition, many hours of labor were spent by the freshmen pledges on paint-up, clean-up and repair jobs to the rest of the house.

As the year progressed so did our social life and activities. We shall never forget the struggles of our cavemen as they hauled our float through the streets of Amherst in the Homecoming parade, nor the hours of tedious planning and work on our snow sculpture entitled "Bambi In the Woods."

Heavy classroom schedules cut down on the number of parties but the quality went up on those that were held.

Memories of the annual Harvest party will remain forever and we shall look back with pride as we recall that our house was named "best decorated on campus" at our Christmas party. Whether it was the Christmas party, Sweater party, Hobo party or Damon Runyon party; all had a great time and new friendships were made.

The annual banquet and freshmen send-off was held at Hotel Roger Smith in Holyoke. Another successful year had come to a close at Kappa Kappa.

—Lee Crowell

As the time draws near for us to say goodbye to A. T. G. we look back over the highlights of the past year. All of our members pitched in to bring A. T. G. the distinction of being the first fraternity at the University to donate 1000% to the Campus Chest drive.

Our failure to place in the float parade was soon forgotten when we captured second place in the snow sculpture contest with "Cinderella Going To the Ball." The only ball Cinderella missed was the Roman Toga party and perhaps it was just as well when we think of the frosty snowmen that "melted" after drinking Halford's punch. Other social gatherings during the year included the Homecoming party and the Costume party with "38" Stone, Amos Wadsworth and other original costumes. No party could have been complete without one of Louie's "specials"!

Perhaps the outstanding party function was the Pajama party. Where else could you show up in a fraternity brother's clothes, spend his money and court his best girl?

The pledge banquet was the biggest social function of the year. A. T. G. received twenty-seven excellent pledges who will carry on the traditions of the house. During this banquet we began to realize that the time to say goodbye to A. T. G. was near. As we go our separate ways, let us always remember what our fraternity stands for and above all—remember our motto!

Progress Banquet

The fourth annual Progress Banquet was held March 12, 1958 in the ballroom of the Student Union building. A delicious meal for the crowd of 200 students and faculty members opened the festivities. The Stockbridge Octet sang several barber-shop numbers and earned a well deserved round of applause.

George Irvine received the most valuable football player award, while John Parker received the similar basketball award. Also at this time all other players and managers of the varsity teams were recognized.

A new award from the Student Senate was presented to Walter Ayers for his leadership during the 1957 Horticulture Show. Sixteen seniors received Progress certificates in recognition for outstanding service to their department, club or school activities. The list of honor students eligible for the 1958 Stosag honor society was presented by Dean Jeffrey. Fourteen seniors were selected and given special recognition for a job well done.

The 45th Annual Horticultural Show was welcomed by a deluge of urgently needed rain. This dampened the enthusiasm of the show-going public. However, all those who attended were greatly rewarded when they viewed the "Chrysanthemum Garden."

As they walked into the garden from the far end of the Cage they were greeted by a mobile of chrysanthemums. Turning, they viewed a bubbling fountain surrounded by pools and chrysanthemums. All of these colorful arrangements led them to the garden house. Here on top of the garden house Professor Clark Thayer, former Head of the Floriculture Department here, captured the richly deserved award of "Horticulturist of the Year."

Horticulture Show

Surrounding the main feature many students and departments displayed their abilities in individual endeavors. Subjects of the exhibits ranged from naturalistic to educational making the show complete.

Through the years we will remember and cherish this, our Horticultural Show for the joy and happiness it has brought to our visitors and the enjoyment of being able to be a part of this old tradition. Our efforts surely were not in vain.

Little International

Beef, sheep, swine and horses plus 55 contestants and a gallery of 400 spectators made up the 18th annual "Little International Livestock Show" which was held at Grinnell Arena on Saturday March 15, 1958. Highlighting the show were such features as the "Greased Pig Race"; "Coed Milking Contest"; "Premier Showmanship Award" and a demonstration by a team of oxen driven by Farm Superintendent Hilton.

Although this show is patterned after the great International Livestock Show held annually in Chicago, the principal difference is that here the students are judged on their ability to properly prepare and show the animals instead of judging the animals themselves. The ultimate goal of this show is to arouse among the students a spirit of competition and sportsmanship in the show ring. It also affords the teachers and students an opportunity to gain new knowledge and training outside of the classroom.

Professors L. V. Tirrell and G. L. Smith of the University of New Hampshire acted as judges for the various events. The role of Special Events judge was carried out by Professor E. M. Buck of the University staff.

The Premier Showmanship Award was presented to Charles Shaw, Stockbridge '58. Fred Martin, also of the class of 1958 received the Reserve Premier Showman Award, while an Honorable Mention award went to Ronald Gilpatrick, U. of Mass. '59.

Winter Carnival

Fireworks, parties, dances, and snow sculptures welcomed in the 1958 Winter Carnival. The gala event was the carni-ball featuring Skitch Henderson's band in the main ballroom of the Student Union.

Nature provided plenty of snow and Stockbridge entered "Ada Made It" in dormitory competition. "Ada" captured second place and A. T. G.'s "Cinderella" also placed second in the snow sculpture competition. Television films of the outstanding sculptures were shown over two major networks following the carnival. On both occasions, the Stockbridge entries were shown.

Snoball Dance

To the rhythm of Win Malone's band, many couples enjoyed this year's Stockbridge Sno-Ball Dance. The evening's festivities topped off what was one of the best Winter Carnival weekends in the past few years. With the small ballroom of the Student Union filled, the Freshmen class should be complimented for their work in making this occasion the success that it was.

Food Seminar

"The 1958 Challenge To The Food Service Executive" was the theme of the fifth annual Food Seminar which was held on our campus during semester vacation. This event is sponsored by the Massachusetts Food Service Educational Council in cooperation with the University Food Management Course and the Universities' Stewards' Club.

The seminar offers a three day course of study for operators and supervisors in the food service industry with outstanding educational and business leaders as instructors.

Highlights this year included a panel discussion by Stewards' Club members, a reception at President Mather's home and a banquet completely prepared and served by the Stewards' Club.

Our 1957 season opened with a 20-6 win over Thayer Academy. The line play of Captain George Irvine, Halford, Johnston, McKay, Shaw and Beal was outstanding. Darel Nowers quarterbacked the club and called a good game utilizing the running ability of seniors Restuccia, Knowles, Haynes and twin brother David. Immediately after this impressive opener, an unscheduled opponent appeared in the form of Asian-flu and the team was idle for six weeks. Although Stockbridge was available for each game, our opponents were unable to field their squads until the last game on our schedule. Lack of game competition was evident and Mount Hermon defeated our boys 26-13. Despite the lack of games, team spirit remained high, and as Coach Kosakowski remarked—"Any .500 season is a good one!"

Football

The season opened with only two returning veterans and it was quite evident that rebuilding would be the main theme. Despite losing the first five games it was apparent that victory was soon to be enjoyed.

During the second half of the season the boys suddenly found the range. Playing .500 basketball for the remaining six games they posted impressive wins over Holyoke Junior College and a double victory over the Hampden College of Pharmacy.

The season's record (3-9) can be mainly attributed to inexperience. However with seven lettermen returning (including the starting five) we look forward to the 1958-59 season.

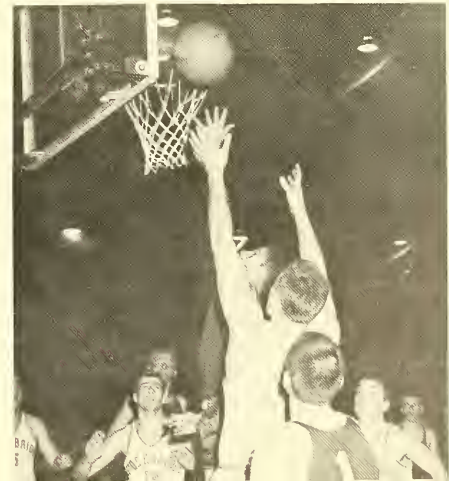

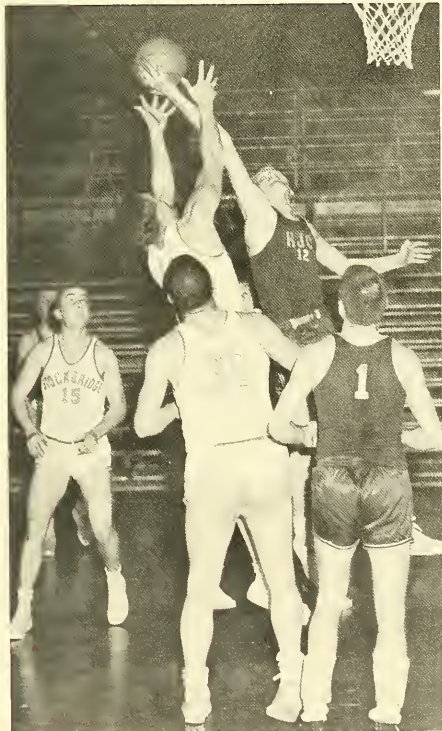

John Parker averaged 19 points per game and was selected as the team's most valuable player. He and Walter Lewis were elected to co-captain next year's team.

"Pop" Barrett's Page

A Stockbridge yearbook without a page for "Pop" Barrett would be as incomplete as an automobile without an engine. For 25 years Professor Barrett served as faculty adviser to the yearbook, then known as Shorthorn. Since his retirement from teaching in 1956 he has been engaged in commercial photography. His interest in each succeeding yearbook remains alive through his present occupation. This first issue of Stosag contains over 100 pictures that could bear the following caption—photography and processing by "Pop" Barrett.

Compliments

This year the Yearbook Staff was fortunate to have Mr. James W. Callahan as its adviser. For him it was a new experience, as it was for some other members on the staff. His tireless efforts combined with an excellent personality have helped to make this yearbook the success it is. The members of the staff join together to thank you, Mr. Callahan, for all of your time and effort.

Stepping out of the picture as yearbook adviser this year was Mr. Richard A. Southwick. His contributions to the Shorthorns of the past have been many and his work will long be remembered. Other commitments have prevented him from taking on this job this year. However, the members of the staff wish to thank you for your effort, time, and advice and hope you have enjoyed your part in this project.

Acknowledgement

This issue of Stosag is essentially a record of the accomplishments of the class of 1958, but it is also a tribute to forty years of service by the two year course at the University of Massachusetts. The following people have contributed greatly to the success of this first Stosag and we extend our thanks:

to all students of Stockbridge for their cooperation, to Professor James Callahan, Stosag adviser, for his advice and assistance, to President Mather, Provost McCune, Dean Sieling and Director Jeffrey for their timely and inspiring messages, to "Pop" Barrett for his excellent group photographs, to Professor Vondell for the dedication pages, to Koldy Studios for our excellent portraits, to the Short Course Office for the dozens of favors you have done for us, and to all others who have in any way helped to make this yearbook a success.

YOU MAKE YEARBOOKS FUN HERE AT PROGRESS

"The City of Albany"

Working closely with you has been truly a wonderful experience. In the beginning there was nothing except enthusiasm, ideas and many blank pages. Upon this meager foundation you have built this beautiful memory book. Our work at Progress really is fun . . . because we enjoy, so much, getting to know such splendid faculty members and students as you.
